A woman in her sixties chops a small, white cube into powder. (This can be performed or mimed.)

AISHA

Three thirty-three a.m. I'm alone.

Three thirty-three a.m. I'm alone and lie in bed.

Three thirty-three a.m. I'm alone and lie in bed when she calls; "Mel" and I bring her pills.

Three thirty-three a.m. I'm alone and lie in bed when she calls, "Mel" and I bring her pills with juice but she refuses to drink.

Three thirty-three a.m. I'm alone and lie in bed when she calls, "Mel," and I bring her pills with juice but she refuses to drink, so I bring water which she also refuses and I ask why.

Three thirty-three a.m. I'm alone and lie in bed when she calls, "Mel," and I bring her pills with juice but she refuses to drink, so I bring water which she also refuses and I ask why but she orders fresh coffee which I bring to her bed—
(Spoons powder into coffee cup.)
—Which she sniffs and sips as if I were trying to poison her.
